Introducing SSTEC

SSTEC is the Stoke and Staffordshire Teacher Education Collective, a group of initial teacher education providers who work together to serve Stoke on Trent and Staffordshire. We have a website, which can be found at <https://sstec.online>. The materials presented on this site are aimed to support mentors. We believe that mentors are at the heart of any ITE partnership. All the resources are free to use and we hope will enhance and enrich the work of our mentors. We are also pleased to offer a new and exciting opportunity for mentors to work with us to develop some such specific materials.

Focusing on subject knowledge

We would like to invite mentors to help contribute some subject specific questions that a beginning teacher could be asked following an observed lesson. These will be questions that are carefully informed by the distinctive nature of a subject. We will work as cross-phase groups, so that colleagues from across the locality can meet together online to share and develop this resource.

The dates, subjects and booking details are overleaf. Each session will last an hour and will be facilitated by a subject expert from one of our providers. The materials created from these sessions will then be shared on the SSTEC website for use by all.

Save the date

We will be hosting an online conference on Tuesday 20th June 2023 between 1.30 and 4.30pm which will be free to attend. The conference will focus on the importance of subject expertise in mentoring and teaching. You can register your interest by clicking on the link overleaf. We will then send the programme details to you nearer the time.
